SACRIFICE ?

THINK ! . . . Today, CANADIANS are dying so that Canada . . . your country can live ! The boys in our armed forces are over there fighting every inch of the way . . . fighting for your right to freedom . . . the freedom those Axis gangsters would take away. How can you talk of SACRIFICE when THEY risk their lives and call it "DUTY" ?

Our fighting men need more tanks, more guns, more planes . . . they must have BETTER WEAPONS than our enemies have if the United Nations are to smash through to Victory. WE CAN . . . WE WILL . . . WE MUST provide them !

EVERY WAR CERTIFICATE you buy is the world's greatest investment in security . . . Every Certificate you buy will help our boys at the fronts ! . . . DON'T MISS THIS OPPORTUNITY TO DO YOUR PART !

Miss Margaret Aitken of Vancouver and formerly of Chinook, has been appointed night supervisor for Vancouver General hospital, a position which involves great responsibility.

Mr. George Ailken returned last Saturday after having attended his mother's funeral.

Miss Eileen Proudfoot nurse-in-training in the Calgary General hospital, is spending a three week's vacation at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Proudfoot.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Youell, of Alsask, were Chinook visitors on Sports day.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Agar of Sedalia were Chinook visitors on Sports day.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence and Mr. Mrs. Jack Leel were Hanna visitors Monday.

Mr. Jones of Calgary has been employed by the Cooley Bros. to work in the Garage.

THINK PLAGUE CARRIED BY MICE

OLDS, June 12—A skin disease outbreak in the Olds districts and Innisfail districts, has caused some speculation as to whether the ailment was being spread by the millions of mice which have invaded these areas, and have multiplied in the stocks left out in the fields over winter.

The plague is similar to ringworm and seems to be attacking those who have worked in harvest fields, but Olds doctors state today that there was no proof that it was a mouse-carried plague.

For many years health authorities have noticed that various kinds of skin eruptions were prevalent during harvest and this outbreak may be of a similar nature.

Whether guilty of this latest crime or not, the people of the districts concerned have declared unrelenting war on the mice and reports state that dogs, cats and even the old hens, are aiding in the extermination process.

Miss Pennington of Hanna was a Chinook visitor this week.

The Chinook War Finance Committee wishes to express its thanks to Mr. Warren Robinson and Mr. Targett who bought the War Savings Certificates which were presented to the winners of the recent Victory Loan Essay Contest.

What to Grow in 1943

As a result of the Dominion-Provincial conference held in Ottawa last December, it is recommended that wheat plantings be reduced by nearly 4 million acres, and rye by almost 1/2 million acres. Increased summerfallow is not suggested; but we are advised to use the land taken out of wheat to increase the acreage of other crops as follows: oats, over 1 1/2 million; barley, 3/4 million; hay and clover, 3/4 million; alfalfa, 1/4 million.

The above adjustments are chiefly the concern of the prairie provinces because we sow about 95 per cent of Canada's wheat acreage. Indeed, we can go further and say that the change will be concentrated in Saskatchewan and Alberta, because Manitoba planted less than two million acres of wheat in 1942.

To the individual farmer the desired changes mean that, on the average, for every 100 acres of wheat he grew in 1942, he should grow only 82 in 1943. Obviously, these changes must be considered in relation to district and to the possibility of increasing various classes of livestock. Generally speaking, on the open prairies, it will be difficult to reduce wheat acreages by 18 per cent. As a result of the announcement that the flax acreage should not be increased in 1943, it would be wise to forget about flax in the mixed farming areas, and concentrate our production in the plains where coarse grains do not do so well. If the government's wishes are to be realized, wheat acreage reduction must exceed 18 per cent where mixed farming is feasible and profitable. More grasses and/or clovers will be advantageous nearly everywhere.

FAT IS AMMUNITION!

Fat and bone conservation begins at home and ends in the firing line

- DO YOU KNOW -

One pound of fat supplies enough glycerine to fire 150 bullets from a Bren gun.

Two pounds of fat will fire a burst of 20 cannon shells from a Spitfire or 10 anti-aircraft shells.

Bones produce fat and aircraft glue.

If we saved fat at the rate of one ounce per person per week this would mean 36,000,000 pounds per year, enough to produce 3,600,000 pounds of glycerine for explosives.

OUR FIGHTERS DEPEND ON YOU

"Every householder who delivers to a retail butcher, collector, or Salvage Committee, any rendered or unrendered fats or bones shall be entitled to receive from the person to whom they are delivered 4 cents per pound net weight for rendered fats, and 1 cent per pound for unrendered fats."

The above paragraph is a direct quotation from Order A-642 of The Wartime Prices and Trade Board.

"Rendered fat" means fat melted down and strained to remove solid matter. It includes drippings and strained pan grease resulting from the cooking of meat.

"Unrendered fat" means raw or partially cooked fat free from lean meat and bone, but not fully rendered.

"Bones" means raw or cooked bones of cattle, sheep and hogs.

EVERY OUNCE COUNTS!

SAVE AND STRAIN EVERY DROP TO SPEED VICTORY. SELL IT TO YOUR BUTCHER OR GIVE IT TO YOUR SALVAGE COMMITTEE.

NOTICE TO BUTCHERS, HOTELS, ETC.

You have been mailed a copy of Order A-642. This Order affects operators of hotels, restaurants and other establishments where meals are served. Britain's Queen Mother

Has Won And Kept Respect And Love Of People

Queen Mother Mary, princess in her own right, is descended from that Duke of Cambridge who was a son of George III. She was a cousin of the then Duke of York, whom she married in 1893 and who became King in 1910. George V. described her publicly as a "constant helpmate in every endeavor for our people's good."

She has seen much sorrow, private and national. Through it all she has been brave, patient and helpful. She is a Victorian worthy of a great epoch and the sterner trials of human fortune in our own time.

Queen Mother Mary loves London and the Londoners love her. The slums know her as a pleasant, kindly visitor, friendly, guileless of disguise, dispassionate, democratic. She couldn't keep away from the bombed districts in 1940. George VI is said to have had a good deal of trouble in persuading his mother to leave town. Finally he succeeded. Pretty soon we heard of her. She was established in a village. She was doing war work like any other villager.

One thinks of her as wearing a Victorian toque and a long gray cloak. She wears what she likes. Nobody can tell her what fashions she should follow. A good Victorian again she is fond of the theatre. This is her third war, but she is not discouraged. In the First World War by accepting the place of Commandant in Chief of the Women's Auxiliary Army Corps, W.A.A.C., she insured success when a lot of demure and tongues were wagging. Sensible, active, quiet, strong, she has deserved for more than 40 years the respect and love of her people.—New York Times.

PAPER FOR DISASTER

BY J. B. RYAN

CHAPTER VII

AFTER De Nova had left the room a Guillermo's attention turned to Chris Morgan. "You should have considered, senior, that I would inquire what books had been written by Christopher Morgan, the supposed novelist. But you almost won the game, Lieutenant. What did you do—switch glasses on Verde in the dining room?"

"Something like that," answered Morgan, not to satisfy Guillermo's curiosity, but because the dialogue might disclose the truth to Rosita and Esteban. "And you—how did you find out that the fingerprints were Verde's?"

"You were so composed in the face of all accusations that I believed you were unaware that what should have been your glass was carried from the dining room to Velasquez's room," explained Guillermo. "But when you asked Rojas to lend Verde, it was so accurate a guess at the name of the man who had stabbed the colonel that I feared something was wrong. I sent De Nova to investigate. He sought Rojas, purportedly with a message from Rojas, and found the fingerprint man just as he was discovering that the marks on the glass were not Rojas's. De Nova then smashed the glass and destroyed the photographs."

Esteban Velasquez, in spite of a warning wave of Guillermo's hand, stepped forward to face Chris Morgan. "I apologize, Lie Morgan," he said contemptuously. "We have done you a great wrong."

Rosita glared to her brother's side and murmured, almost timidly, "Can you ever forgive us, senior?" She made amends. When Capt. Rojas comes we shall tell him what Felix Guillermo has just said."

"Without proof your words will mean nothing," Guillermo laughed. "I find you here as a pleasant, kindly visitor, friendly, guileless of disguise, dispassionate, democratic. She couldn't keep away from the bombed districts in 1940. George VI is said to have had a good deal of trouble in persuading his mother to leave town. Finally he succeeded. when you threatened Guillermo and Verde?"

"I had nothing," Tio Pancho chuckled. "It was what Senor Morgan would call the Yankee bluff. That Don Felix was the fool for once. He should have known that even if I had had the knife I could not have thrown it with any accuracy with my left hand. Ah, I have found it! I have the knife now!" He scrambled to his feet. "Let us go! Verde will run when he sees this blade of mine, and I am quite willing to match my steel against the lead in Guillermo's gun."

"No, you old fire-eater!" Esteban caught Tio Pancho by the shoulder. "Instead of running into further danger, you should be thanking God that none of us was killed when you knocked that lamp off the table!"

"It was a reckless thing to do, Pancho," chided Rosita. "I thought I should have shot Senor Morgan. And you did not better our position. We are still prisoners. If we try to get out, Guillermo will shoot us."

The pause had cooled some of Pancho's ardor. He stole to the window, but the dark shadows of the porch made it impossible to discover any figure lurking about the door. There was no sign of anyone in the house, and the two men and the girl followed as Pancho went to have a look at the smaller and darker ally.

Tio tried to open the back door. But the old man had no more than touched the knob when a pistol cracked and a bullet slammed into a panel of the door. Pancho hastily backed away.

THEY heard Verde call to Guillermo that he had frustrated the first attempt to leave the house. Tio Pancho was cursing under his breath. "This is not the first time I have had to use my wits to get out of my own house."

He led them into the third room of the small cottage, his own bedroom, a small cubbyhole crowded with dilapidated furniture. In this room was a tiny window. "The next building makes a narrow passage with the wall of my house," Tio said. "I can slip through the window, creep up on Verde and cut his throat with my knife."

He gripped the fastenings of the window and tugged. But the window resisted all efforts to raise it, and in exasperation Tio Pancho inserted the edge of his knife under the frame and pried.

Came a crack and a snap, and the window stirred in its bed of dried paint. The old man slid the window up and then emitted a typically waterproof oath. "The knife—I have broken the blade into two pieces. With these I can do no more than scratch the skin of Verde's fat neck."

Chris Morgan peered into the narrow, inkly space between the two buildings. "Perhaps we can steel past Verde in the darkness," he suggested.

"Impossible," Tio Pancho shook his head. "Anyone watching that back door could see the mouth of my one-way pocket. As soon as we emerge into the clear we would be at the mercy of Verde's weapon."

"Nevertheless," said "something must be done. The starlight is not very good. Verde might miss the couple of times he chances may be able to rush him before he hits me in a vital spot."

A grin lit up at the corners of Tio Pancho's thin lips. "Who is the foolhardy one now, senior?" he inquired. "You will have only your bare hands!"

"Wait," Esteban Velasquez stayed Morgan as the latter was swinging a leg over the sill. "There is some- thing better than your fista, senior, better even than Pancho's knife would have been."

SELECTED RECIPES

WHOLE WHEAT BREAD

Simplified Straight Dough Method

For Making Four Loaves

8 cups whole wheat flour

2 cups sifted white flour

1½ tablespoons salt

4 tablespoons sugar (or lard)

1 Royal Yeast Cake

4 cups warm water, or milk or potato water

Method—In the evening break up and soak one yeast cake for 30 minutes in 4 cups of warm (not hot) liquid, to which has been added 2 tablespoons sugar. Mix 1½ tablespoons salt with 2 cups sifted white flour and add to whole wheat flour. Melt 4 tablespoons butter or lard, and add to yeast liquid. Mix flour and liquid, turn out on floured board and knead well, adding flour if dough sticks to board. Place dough in warm, greased bowl. Place again in warm bowl, cover, and allow to rise until doubled in bulk. Roll gently, cut and place in greased loaf pans. When baked, remove loaves from pans and place on wire racks to cool, uncovered.

Four Centuries Ago

North American Indians Used Rationing Idea During War

Robert A. Wauchope, director of Tulane University's middle American research institute in New Orleans, says the North American Indians were practicing rationing four centuries ago.

During a warring period, when armies of 60,000 to 125,000 men were on the move, an adequate supply of food, equipment and other provisions were accumulated in advance and then allocated to each of the fighting men, Wauchope said.

"Some tribes carried fighting ranges with them in gourd which hung around the warrior's neck. The gourds were filled with hominy, to which they added water."

"When they ran short they expected tribute," Hitler style, from the land in which they were fighting. There still are picture records extant of the times before the conquest showing how much each town was made to contribute," Wauchope said.

GET THOSE NERVES UNDER CONTROL—BE HAPPY!

So, you think you're a nervous wreck—every little thing irritates you and makes life unhappy for the rest of your family? Or maybe you imagine all sort of ailments—ailments which the doctor cannot diagnose but which necessitates you to take medicine all the time.

Much of the cause of your nerves is probably your mental attitude—you can't be a great many things and they soon magnify. Don't drift along fusing over trifles, feeling irritable, inclined to nag. If you can't control your temper, feel so restless you want to fly out of the house, your nervous system needs attention. Don't let it overwhelm you. Take it in hand before it does. The value of complete rest is most important and it is particularly necessary to have lots of fresh air when you are sleeping. Open your bedroom windows wide. Nothing is better for you than fresh air. Also get outdoors as much as possible.

Our 32-page booklet is full of ways which will untie those knotted nerves and relax you completely. You'll feel like a new woman!

NOW YOUNG CANADIANS CAN HELP TO WIN THE WAR

Plan Was Dropped

Americans Will Not Wear American Type Steel Helmets

Canada's overseas troops are not going to be issued American-type steel helmets after all.

They will continue to wear the "shipman" helmet for probably another 10 or 12 months when they are likely to adopt a new British helmet which should be ready by then.

Two months ago Canadian authorities, understanding that the British army was going to change to the American-type tin hat, planned to do the same and ordered 200,000 from the United States.

It was later learned that British officials, after further investigation, decided against adopting the American helmet. Wishing to conform to British army headgear, the Canadians dropped their plan.

One of the principal complications involved in the plan to adopt the American helmet has been the earphones used in the Canadian and British field signals system. These phones fit over the ear like lugs and the American helmet coming down over the side of the head and ears cannot be worn with phones.

Army authorities also considered it impractical to switch to American earplugs as that would involve a change in signals equipment right through the army.

The proposed new British helmet will be worn by overseas troops. The earphone difficulty while giving more protection to the head and neck than the present helmet.

Average weight of 11,000 human brains weighed was 1,361 grams for man; 1,290 grams for woman.

A Greater Leader

British Prime Minister Has Ability To Inspire Other Nations

Mr. Churchill seems to combine in his own personality nearly all the outstanding qualities that lent distinction to the giant figures of British statesmen of the last century. He has Pitt's brilliance and vision, Palmerston's indomitable resolution, the fire of Gladstone's magnificent utterance, and the ironic wit of Disraeli. He possesses in addition one quality which none of those great statesmen ever had such opportunities to demonstrate as have fallen to Mr. Churchill's lot, and that is the ability to inspire the peoples of other nations with confidence in his statesmanship and faith in his sincerity.

With men of the calibre of Churchill and Roosevelt leading us, the United Nations can today look forward with greater confidence than ever to a successful issue of the terrible world struggle that is now convulsing humanity.—Montreal Star.

Stamp Out The U-Boats

The utilizing of the U-Boat by Germany on such an extensive scale during the last War, necessitated a new approach to their destruction. This was accomplished by the invention of the depth charge, which is a fairly simple but highly destructive form of attack.

When it was first employed in attack on U-boats, it was nick-named "ash can" by the Sailors. The name remains, but the "ash can" soon won recognition as one of the most effective answers to the menace of the U-boat. One of the most precisely built instruments of destruction ever devised, it is not possible to call the depth charge beautiful; but its effect can be said to be very devastating. It is one of the few weapons that has escaped the modern stream-lined trend that has effected most other weapons of War, and in appearance compares unfavourably with its slender sisters—the aerial bomb and shell. It looks for all the World like an oil drum, or a giant hammer with a short handle attached.

We have all lately been reading of the successes of our Corvette and Destroyers in the battle of the Atlantic, but let us realize the precision and team work which is necessary for the accomplishment of this purpose. The warfare that our ships are engaged in is a strange, grim struggle. In the vast majority of cases, the Navy finds itself in combat with the enemy which presents no target, and which it seldom sees. Constant vigilance is necessary, and at all times on our fighting ships the listening devices and detection mechanisms are manned.

The first duty of an escort vessel is the protection at all costs of the Convoy, and once a submarine is picked up on the listening devices, there is a sad scramble to turn the hunter into the hunted. The Corvettes make hastily for the approximate location and throw depth charges at random. This is done to divert the submarine from its purpose and make it seek safety. Once they are assured that the stalking of the Convoy has ceased they get down to the real serious business of locating and destroying the submarine.

The most effective method of disposing of a submarine, is to "pattern" it with depth charges. This is done by surrounding the U-boat with depth charges—one is dropped over the stern then a run is made to get ahead of him, half way through the run two charges are fired from the Y guns and at the end of the run another charge is dropped. What happens when four charges are successfully dropped no one knows, least of all the U-boat.

Sunday School Picnic Held

To wind up the year's activities a successful Sunday School picnic was held on June 13th.

After a varied program of races, lunch was served in the church.

Mr. Charyk who had been superintendent for five years, then gave his farewell talk to the Sunday School and presented the prizes both for the races and for attendance.

Jean Zawasky and Virginia Lee had perfect attendance records.

Other attendance prize winners were: Donna Cooley, Bill Lee, Iorn Coley, Betty Zawasky, Audrey Zawasky, Beverly Nicholson and Sylvia Shippelt.

Surprise Birthday Party Held

A Surprise party was held on Saturday, June 12th at the home of Mrs. Nicholson. A number of the long time residents of the town gathered to honor Mrs. M. C. Nicholson on the occasion of her birthday.

The afternoon was spent in reminiscing on the early days of Chinook.

Mr. Dean Thompkins who got his foot badly injured in a government road machine last winter returned to his home here this week. His foot has not made a marvelous recovery. He was in the Calgary hospital for several months, after which he went to Banff where he took the baths.

Mrs. K. Gullickson left last week for Lethbridge, where she is visiting with her parents.

Seeds, Weeds and Services

The Lino Elevators Association has completed germination tests on 11,000 samples of farmers' seeds, an increase over last year of nearly 2,000. All samples have been tested twice, and many have had three tests. This means a total of nearly 25,000 tests and, if you like big figures, 2,500,000 seeds! Not one complaint has so far reached the office.

Once, again, we take the liberty of reminding farmers that if they cannot identify old weeds on their farms, they may be making serious trouble for the future. Small patches of perennial weeds can be destroyed cheaply; but, later on, eradication may cost as much as the land is worth. It is only necessary to collect good specimens, including flowers and roots and take them to the nearest line elevator agent. He will forward them to us, and we will identify the weeds and indicate whether or not they are likely to be serious pests. Or, weeds may be sent to any Dominion Experimental Farm, Provincial Department of Agriculture or University. The importance of this matter cannot be over-stressed.

The Lino Elevators' weed bulletin, "An Illustrated Guide to Farm Weeds," is available through line elevator agents or by writing to the Agricultural Department, The North-West Lino Elevators Association, Winnipeg.

It is now nearly four years since the Lino Elevator Companies organized this Department to serve Prairie farmers. Each succeeding year has brought increased demand for services and publications; this is an ample reward.

"WE NOT ONLY HAUL 'EM - WE BUILD 'EM TOO"

ALTHOUGH we, the Canadian railways, are carrying vastly more traffic than at any time in history, we are also building guns and tanks, ships and shells. Our machinery of production hums day and night. Implements of war roll from our plants in steady streams. They're made by the railways... hauled by the railways... the railways of Canada.

Only your railways, ready and capable of meeting the emergency before it occurred, can handle this double "must"... mass transportation and mass war production.

Your railways met a mighty challenge in Canada's period of reconstruction. They are rendering dual service in War's period of destruction. They will be needed more than ever in the reconstruction period of peace. They will meet that challenge, too!
